The Kirtland's Warbler Festival committee hopes you'll enjoy this first edition of our "Young Artists' Calendar."

This was a project, among many, to help our elementary and middle school pupils throughout our region better understand our country's rarest warbler and the unique jack pine ecosystem in which this endangered bird spends its spring and summer. Nearly 150 area children from grades 1-8 submitted entries through their schools after learning about the animals and birds that benefit from the management of the Kirtland's Warbler habitat, most of it in the four-county (C.O.O.R.) district served by the college.

Tom Dale, a Kirtland science instructor, visited dozens of schools, speaking to thousands of youngsters in the spring of 2003, inspiring many to submit the artwork you now hold in your hands.

The Festival committee congratulates the young artists whose wonderful work is featured here, as well as all the children who submitted entries, and their teachers.
